If a message pops up while you are playing a game saying "Can I play too?", don't reply. Go straight to your parents and they will help you to figure out what to do. Always think before you do anything online.

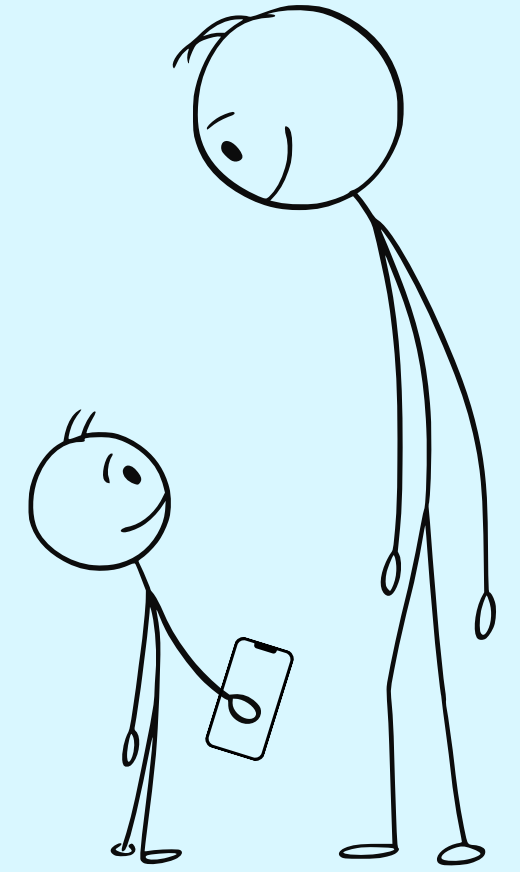

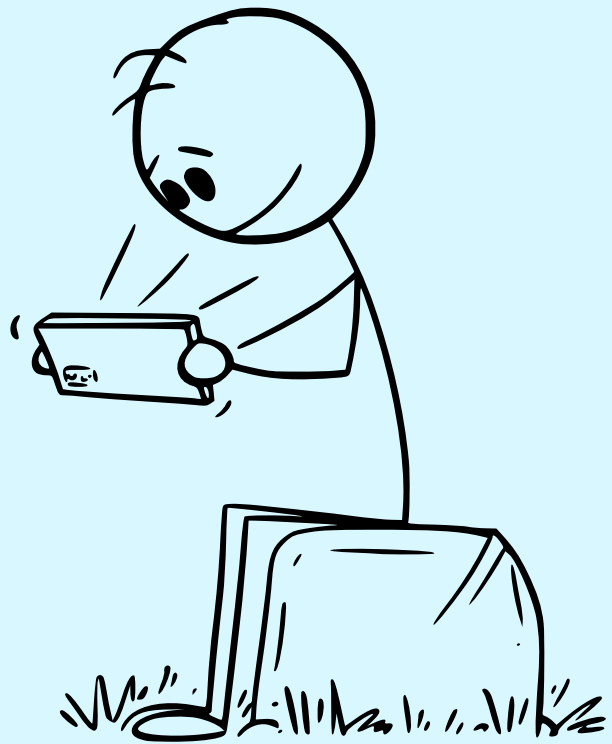

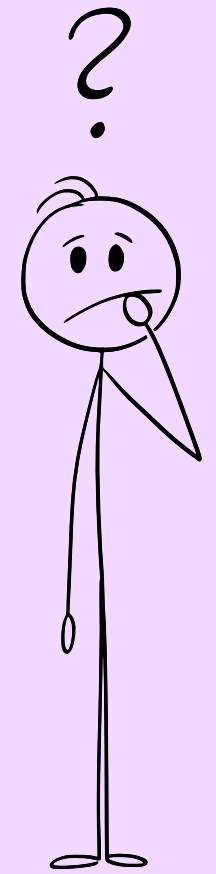

If you see an ad that says something like "Enter your email and address to win a free toy!" show it to your parents and they will decide if it is a safe website or not. It is always good to check with them before you click on anything that seems too good to be true.

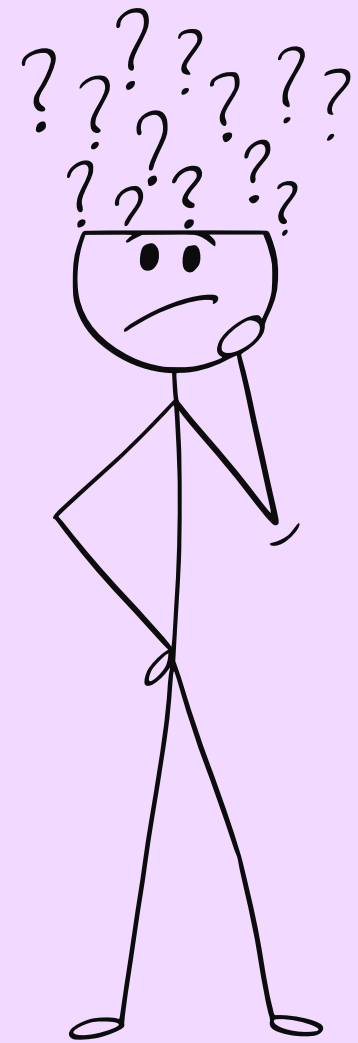

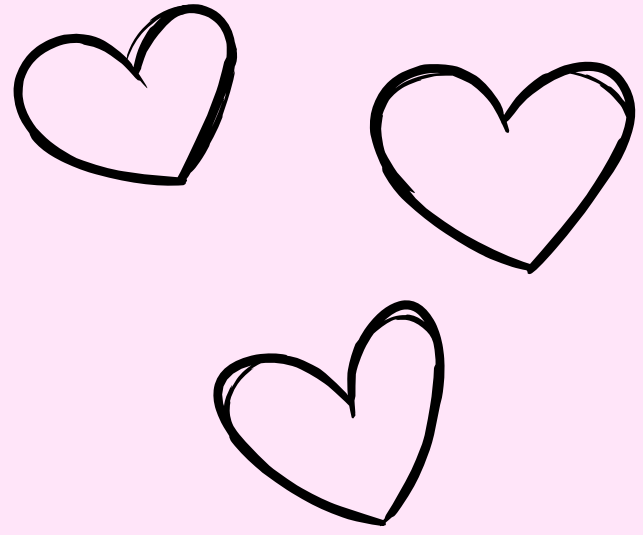

Let's say you are watching a video on your mammy or daddy's phone and then all of a sudden another video starts playing that you didn't choose show it to your parents to make sure it is suitable for your age.

Does anyone have any questions?

Thank You!
